If you want to obtain a First-Time New Mexico Driver's License or State Identification Card (ID), The NM Motor Vehicles Department (MVD) requires all International Students who are not eligible for a Social Security Number to schedule an appointment. You will be required to select appointment type "First Time Foreign National DL/ID" at: <https://secure.mvd.newmexico.gov/mvdappointments/>.

ATTENTION!! New Mexico started issuing two kinds of driving permits in November 2016. The Driver's License can be used as a federal ID to board an airplane or enter a government facility, but may be limited in duration for international students and scholars based on their Visa expiration date. The second permit, the Driver Authorization Card (DAC), cannot be used for federal purposes but can be issued for up to 4 or 8 years. When you apply, you will need to CHOOSE whether you want the permit/ID to use for federal purposes or the DAC/ID for state purposes only. You need to know which one you will be applying for and bring the required documents on the attached list for the correct type of permit/ID BEFORE YOU GO. Because the rules are new, there is a lot of confusion at MVD offices, we recommend you schedule an appointment at this location since they are the most familiar with International Student documents: 5301 Central Ave NE Ste 100 Albuquerque, NM 87108. Be prepared to bring all the required documents on your appointment day, failure to do so will result in having to reschedule an appointment for a later date. Please read this handout in its entirety and check the list of required documents attached.

I. EXPLANATION

We recommend that you obtain at least one form of U.S. identification in order to avoid carrying your passport with you; this can be any type of Driver's License or ID issued by the state of NM. You will need it for writing checks, using credit cards, ordering or purchasing alcohol, or entering a bar or night club.

If you plan to drive in New Mexico, you MUST have a driver's license with you each time you drive a vehicle. If you have a valid driver's license from your home country or an international driver's license, you may drive with that license until you become a resident of NM. You are considered a state resident for this purpose once you have lived here for more than six months. It is likely that if you are stopped or questioned by a police officer, they may not recognize the driver's license from your home country. Therefore, if you plan to live here for more than 6 months and drive a car, we highly recommend that you obtain a license. The fee varies from $18-$34, depending on the length of time it is issued.

If you do not apply for a driver's license, you should consider obtaining a state ID card; it looks just like a driver's license and is also issued by the Motor Vehicle Division (MVD), but is only for identification purposes. To obtain the ID go to an MVD office and take the documents listed below for the correct kind. You may even consider getting one for your children.

II. CONDITIONS AND LIMITATIONS

Documents: To obtain either type of license or ID you will need to bring your current passport, unexpired visa, I-94 printout, Social Security Card if you have one, I-20/DS-2019, and two documents showing your physical address as proof of New Mexico residence (such as a rental agreement, bank statement with your full street address, utility bill or MVD letter from GEO), see "Documentation Requirements" attached. You may also want to take a translated and notarized version of your home country license if you have one (please see "Previous Licenses" in the next section). Note that MVD personnel are often not well informed about requirements for non-immigrants in lawful status who want to obtain a license or ID, so we suggest you visit the MVD Office location listed above since this is the only office in the state that helps process Driver Licenses and ID's for members of the international community.

US Social Security Number: MVD personnel will ask you for a social security number. You are not required to have a social security number to be issued a driver's license or state identification card. If you do have a Social Security number, bring it with you – you can use it for identification. Otherwise, the items listed in the other two columns of the attached list will suffice.

III. OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Previous Licenses

In most cases you will need to pass a written test, an eye exam, and a road test to obtain the driver's license. However, if you already have a license from your home country, you may not have to take the road test. If your home license is not in English, you will need to have it translated and notarized before you can be exempt from the road test. You cannot translate the document yourself. Notary services are available at GEO by calling 505-277-4032. To have your translated document notarized, the translator must present the translation to a notary in-person and show a valid, government-issued photo ID. The appropriate notary certificate must be included with your translation.

If you have a valid license from another US state, you can use that as a form of ID. Please note that if you opt to present a previous driver's license from the US or your home country, NM law requires you to surrender it during the application process for a NM driver's license—a hole will be punched through your old license to render it invalid before it is returned to you. If you want to avoid surrendering your home country license or license from another US state, you can opt to take the road test.

Owning a Vehicle

Owning a car in the US is expensive. All automobiles must be registered with the state Motor Vehicle Division and registration fees vary depending on the year and type of car. Also, it is mandatory that all automobile operators carry proof of liability insurance for the automobile they are driving. For car buying tips and other important information go to https://geo.unm.edu/students/life_unm/getting_around/car_buying.html

IV. APPLICATION PROCESS

STEP 1: Make an appointment.

If you do not have a US Social Security number (SSN), make an appointment at <https://secure.mvd.newmexico.gov/mvdappointments/>. If you already have an SSN, you can go directly to any MVD office, but we suggest you also schedule an appointment at the MVD office in Central and San Mateo for easier processing (do not go to an "MVD Express office" as they cannot process licenses/Id's for non-US-Citizens).

STEP 2: Determine if the None for the Road Drunk Driving Awareness Program applies to you.

If you are under 25 years of age and this is your first New Mexico driver's license, you must complete the None for the Road DWI Awareness Program before you apply for the license. The fee is $25.00 (non-refundable) and it is a self-taught class administered by UNM Continuing Education. You can pay and complete the coursework online then take your payment verification number to the local MVD office to complete the final exam on one of their testing computers. To register for the course, go online at <https://nonefortheroad.org/login/> or call (505) 277-0051 for additional information.

STEP 3: If necessary, take the written test

Obtain the New Mexico Driver's Manual from any of the MVD offices or online (in English and Spanish) at <http://www.dmv.org/nm-new-mexico/driver-handbook.php>. This booklet covers all the driving regulations that you need to know in order to pass the written test, so study it carefully. You will need to pass this test before taking the road test. The written test is usually available half an hour before your scheduled road test. However, if you do not pass it, you will need to reschedule the driving test.

STEP 4: If necessary, take the road test

You need to make an appointment to take the road test and bring a vehicle (someone else must drive you to the test if you do not have a license). An examiner will accompany you for a brief on-the-road test of your driving skills. The car you are driving for the road test must have current registration and insurance and be in good condition. You must also pass a vision test when you go in to take the road test.

V. DEPARTMENT OF MOTOR VEHICLES DIVISION (MVD) OFFICES

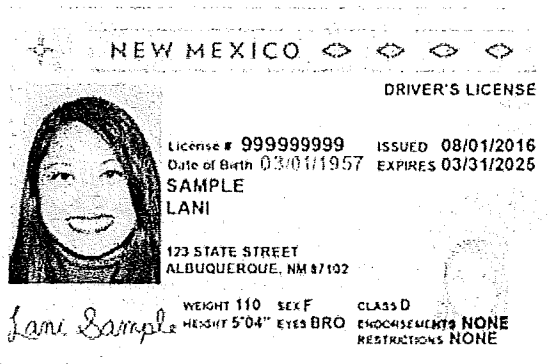

Although you can visit any MVD office, we highly recommend you apply at the Central and San Mateo office due to their familiarity with documentation from International Students. You can only be seen at this location with a scheduled appointment:
